A section of the building in the middle, featuring three small, rectangular windows with white frames. The wall is heavily weathered and peeling, showing a mix of yellow, tan, and grey tones. There is some graffiti on the wall, including the word "CANY" and "ROCK" in black spray paint.

A section of the building on the right side, featuring two tall, narrow, vertical rectangular openings. The wall is heavily weathered and peeling, showing a mix of yellow, tan, and grey tones.
